CONSIDER STATEMENT

Knox Praised For Frankness of Report; Others Indignant
Over Losses

By William S. Neal
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16.—While Sen. Wheeler, D. Montana, urged that Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox be ousted, Congress today generally appeared willing to await results of a Presidential investigation of the Pearl Harbor upset before taking action of their own.

Members viewed the statement of Knox on American losses in the Japanese surprise attack with mixed feelings. While the Navy chief was praised by some for making a frank report, and relief was voiced that losses were not as bad as rumored, others expressed deep indignation over his statement that neither the Army nor the Navy was on the alert.

Rep. Vinson, D. Ga., Chairman of the House Naval Affairs Committee, and Sen. Walsh, D. Mass., Chairman of the Senate Naval Affairs group, scheduled a conference with Knox to decide if Congress should take any action.

"I am glad that the Secretary of the Navy says an investigation will be made," said Wheeler. "It would seem to me that what we need is a new Secretary of the Navy. It is impossible for me to understand how the catastrophe could have happened if we had had a Secretary who was on the alert."

It seems ironic that Christmas—the one day of the year that we all want to last forever—is one of the shortest days of the calendar.

But although the day must and does appear to end all too quickly, the Christmas season with all its happiness can continue with keen enjoyment of all it means.

This means also keen enjoyment of the gifts. So a word to the wise—make the gifts the kind that will be appreciated.

Plans Being Considered To Feed More Chlorine Into The Water

MORRISVILLE, Dec. 16.—Experiments have been conducted the past few days by the consulting engineer as a result of complaints about the taste of the water here, and he reports that this taste and odor condition is not peculiar to Morrisville, as all sections of the eastern part of the nation are affected, especially those sections using surface water for supply.

The raw water at the Morrisville filtration plant varies from day to day, like all surface supplies, and the experiment was conducted over five days. The results show as the amount of chlorine is increased, the taste increases up to a maximum and then as the feed is increased, the taste abruptly drops to zero and then a straight chlorine taste appears. Fortunately, the chlorine taste does not persist.

It is proposed to feed enough chlorine to reach the point at which the chlorine taste alone is obtained, and experiments show that this point is reached at a feed of from 30 to 60 pounds per million gallons, depending on the raw water.

This will necessitate a new chlorine, and Common Council agreed at its meeting this past week to purchase a new and larger chlorinator at a cost of $1,200.

The laboratory experiments show that the use of activated carbon can be dispensed with, thus partly offsetting the additional cost of the chlorine.

Delay in delivering them to Moose Hall, Doylestown, will mean delay in preparing for an emergency which may come at any moment! Take them to 127 East State street, Doylestown, any time between ten in the morning and midnight, as soon as possible.

The Preparedness Committee of Bucks County Medical Society, co-operating with the Bucks County Council of Defense, today issued an urgent call to all residents of the county for immediate contributions of cots, blankets, splints, crutches, and any available medical supplies such as cotton, gauze, soap, iodine, old linen, etc., to equip emergency refugee field stations, now being organized at strategic points in Bucks County.

The contributions are to be delivered to the Doylestown Moose Home, 127 East State street, any day between the hours of 10 a. m., and midnight, in order that there will be no delay in completing an all-out readiness to properly care for the thousands who will flee from nearby cities and industrial centers in case of enemy air attacks.

From this central station goods will be distributed to other parts of the county.

"The need for contributions cannot be over-emphasized," says Dr. Allen H. Moore, chairman of the committee. "In order to adequately provide for a contingency that may arise at any moment, we must be given immense support."

Appeals for Support of Christmas Seal Sale

With an increase in the number of tuberculosis cases anticipated because of war condition, an appeal from President Roosevelt for public support of the Christmas Seal drive was issued through the office of the Bucks County Tuberculosis Society.

"We must continue to give full support to the National Tuberculosis Association and its affiliated organization throughout the country," the Presidential message said.

"This year, above all years, we must faithfully observe one of our oldest, most worthy American customs—giving health to ourselves and to others through Christmas Seals."

Emma C. Stover, secretary of the Bucks county office, pointed out that the tuberculosis rate has always risen during wartime because of overwork, increased strain and overcrowded housing conditions.

"We have full confidence, however that we can hold tuberculosis in check in this country." The public health work of the Tuberculosis Society is financed solely through the sale of Christmas Seals.

If past performances are any criterion—and the past performances of Barbara Stanwyck and Henry Fonda, together or separately, can be considered a fairly safe criterion, "You Belong to Me" is heading for the kind of audience reaction which made such other hits as "The Awful Truth," "Here Comes Mr. Jordan" and "Mr. Deeds Goes to Town" classics in screen comedy.

"You Belong to Me," at the Bristol Theatre, stars Miss Stanwyck and Fonda.

BEAUTY PARADE

By Max Factor, Jr.

(Famous Hollywood Make-Up Specialist Writing For I. N. S.)

HOLLYWOOD—(INS)—Portrait artists have been promulgating precise formulas on feminine beauty and glamor for several centuries.

These formulas generally have followed the theory that if a woman was so tall, had such and such body measurements, measured so many inches from crown of head to chin, or had a certain specified breadth of face, she was undoubtedly beautiful.

Such mathematical formulas for beauty have all been very interesting. The only drawback to them is that they never seem to work out when they are practically applied. Always there is an abundance of "non-conformist" women who manage to be exceedingly beautiful and glamorous in spite of the fact that many details of their appearance greatly violate the "rules" laid down by the artists.

All of us have observed non-conformist beauties of this sort. Among Hollywood's glamorous film stars, for instance, there are two who are rated everywhere as being exceptionally beautiful—and yet their mouths are much larger than the allowance of any "artistic scale" of classic beauty.

There are at least four stellar Hollywood actresses whose noses are a great deal smaller than any sculptor would admit was the beauty-minimum. Nevertheless, these ladies are glamorous beauties.

This listing of formula flaws in Hollywood beauty, with these flaws detracting not even slightly from the glamour and appeal of their possessors, could go on and on. Some stars, viewed by a critical sculptor, might be declared to have too fragile a chin structure. Others might be criticized as having too much ruggedness in this same feature. The eyes of some might be deemed too small. The ears of others could be logically considered as being over-large. And so on.

Yet, we cannot escape the fact that these women are glamorous and intriguing, and that the public eye rates them as beauties.

Such Hollywood stars as these repeatedly demonstrate that glamor is not to be bounded with any rigid preciseness, and countless women in other walks of life steadily prove this same point.

Women who are beautiful, glamorous, and intriguing in spite of "rules" to the contrary are in nearly every instance the ones who either consciously or subconsciously have mastered the device of placing artistic emphasis upon every attractive feature which they command.

Such emphasis on attractive perfections naturally serves to blind the eyes of onlookers to imperfections. Beautiful eyes which have been skillfully accentuated with make-up, for instance, can easily distract attention away from a not-over-attractive chin line.

VINCE PROFY SCORES 23 POINTS TO LEAD TEAM TO VICTORY

Fourth Straight Win For The Team From Mill Street
FINAL SCORE IS 43 TO 36
Tom Profy Shakes Cords For A Quartet of Field Goals

The season's scoring record was broken last night on the Mutual Aid floor as Vince Profy scored 23 points to lead the Profy team to a 43-36 victory over the Diamond team. It was the fourth straight win for the Radiomen and puts them on top of the heap. Ten field goals and a trio of fouls was Profy's record as he scored more than one-half of his team's points. Another member of the Profy family, Tom, managed to shake the cords for a quartet of fielders for his night's work.

For almost three-quarters of the tilt the Diamond team had the lead on the Mill Streeters. The playing and shooting of Bob Monti kept the Big Green in the lead but in the final session, the Profytes started an offensive that could not be stopped. Trailing by two points when the spurt began, Joe Wooley deadkicked it with a long shot and Chuck Klein put the Profytes in the lead for the first time with a side shot. Vince Profy sank two in succession and when Tom Profy scored a double-decker it was practically over.

The playing of Monti stood out brilliantly in the Diamond defeat. Bob scored fourteen points and held his opponent, Jobby Dugan to a single foul point.

The Plexigum team captured another tilt in the Rohm and Haas league last night, nosing out the Office Force, 29-25, in a close game.

CAHALL AND ROE DEFEAT OLD TEAM-MATES

Ralph Cahall and Joe Roe switched to Manhattan uniforms last night and then proceeded to beat their old team-mates on the Rohm and Haas team in the second game played on the Mutual Aid floor. Final score was: Manhattan, 48; Rohm and Haas, 45.

Cahall and Roe, recently released by the chemical workers, scored 28 points between them. Cahall who leads the circuit in scoring had a total of 19 points between them. Cahall who leads the circuit in scoring had a total of 19 points while Roe had nine.

But the winning double-deckers were made by Joe Snyder. Snyder had been blanked for the entire game but when his team was trailing in the last few minutes of the tilt, Joe hit the cords for a trio of twin-pointers which changed the entire complexion of the game.

Jesse Vanzant and Boscul Rice led the Rohm and Haas aggregation. Rice scored 11 points, one more than Vanzant. Jimmy Rue was close behind, tagging nine points.

Mrs. Marie Holland reported 57 families advised and helped, including 11 veterans, 12 active service, and 34 civilians. Four telegrams were sent to Hawaii for information concerning the soldiers and sailors of this community by Mrs. Holland.

The relationship of Red Cross and Bucks County Defense Council was then discussed, Mrs. Holland calling attention to the pamphlet published by the Governor of the State, in which he shows the duties of each organization. Mrs. Horace N. Davis, who is serving on the Bristol committee on food, read a letter from Mrs. Ross, Doylestown, who is the county chairman of food, asking that a meeting be arranged to discuss the matter on January 6th.
